

HerStory 2008 Theme

Women of all ages are crying out for a deeper rootedness in the biblical text, a deeper embodiment which is to say, a living out, in full view, of the theological questions. As we become more enlightened, we ask, "Can I really say that?" Learn that we can, as Anna uses biblical and historical models of girls and women. She will revisit some familiar texts including Exodus 2 (Miriam in the reeds, watching her baby brother and standing in for her mother), Luke 1 (Mary and the annunciation), the story of Mary and Martha, Acts 12 (the story of Rhoda), and parts of the Song of Songs.

The testimonies of these girls and women give us hope and permission to stand behind what we say and what we truly believe.

About the Conference

HerStory, a conference for women of faith, has been in existence since 1994. We:

Celebrate women who bring a feminist tradition to their spiritual experience

Provide a safe place to bring their joys, fears, and questions.

Worship God as a community of daughters created in God's image

Seek to discover and uphold female images of God, Christ, and Spirit in scripture and faith traditions

Provide opportunities for personal renewal

Build supportive relationships

Encourage growth in faith and life

Seek justice for women and the transformation of church and secular life

Anna Carter Florence

Keynote Speaker

Anna Carter Florence is an Associate Professor of Preaching and Worship at Columbia Theological Seminary. Anna is interested in historical, theological, aesthetic, and performative dimensions of preaching and how preaching engages other fields and different traditions.

Anna's research focuses on testimony, feminist theology, the role of experience in preaching, and the history of preaching women.

HerStory Features

Labyrinth An ancient tool for prayer and meditation – walk the walk & pray the prayer.

Meditation Center A quiet, inviting space for prayer, reflection, and reading.

Shower of Stoles A display of liturgical stoles from people of faith from across North America, who because of their sexual orientation have either been barred from active service or forced to live in silence to save their livelihoods.

Massage and Energy Treatments – extra fee required. Body work treatments using a variety of techniques by professional massage and reflexology therapists.

Turning Points Video A Covenant Network video which presents stories of life and change by faithful people who learn to know a gay or lesbian person.

Books, Resources, Art Cokesbury and the Resource Center of Shenandoah Presbytery will offer books and resources related to women and faith. In addition, a number of women artists will have their work displayed for sale.

Workshops:

Worshipping Barefoot: Being Young and Restless in the Church

Amy Summers-Minette & Teri Peterson lead a frank constructive dialogue as the “missing generation” - young adults who can be found in church.

Exploring the Feminine face of God:

Sally Robinson explores scripture presenting God as female using classics: The Divine Feminine, Reimagining God and A God Who Looks Like Me.

Spirituality & Aging

Kay Goodman will lead an exploration of how the wisdom of our years enhances our lives. As crones we dance to a tune born of our life experiences

Can I Say That? Sermon Prep for Plain Folks:

Do not fear! Jean Rodenbough will give tips on how to prepare a presentation/sermon that witnesses both to your faith and also to the scriptures.

Diversity, by God (Inclusivity is up to us):

Emma Chattin takes us to where spiritual majorities and sexual minorities meet. Weaving GLTBQ folks into the fabric of Christian Communities.

Book discussion: Leaving Church by Barbara Brown Taylor

Beth Roberts leads a discussion of the author’s spiritual journey and her apparent conflict between the call to serve God and the call to be fully human.

Back from Baghdad and Beyond: One Woman’s Peacemaking Journey in Iraq

Beth Pyles leads a presentation on peacemaking in Iraq, CPT (Christian Peacemaker Teams) and what ‘ordinary Christians’ can do towards peacemaking.

BodyPrayer: Recovering a Spirituality of the Body through Movement & Dance

Kathryn Sparks will lead this “fleshing out” of your faith through movement and dance as prayer. Prepare a simple movement piece for worship.

Making a Prayer Shawl

A prayer shawl is knitted with prayers for the recipient, joining two souls together. Carol Griffin will lead this hands-on workshop and sell supplies.
